History

Mutus Adetus is very proud of its company name.

We think, moreover that we have a very good reason to be proud.

Mutus Adetus was a Roman civilian who commissioned by local Roman authority traded with the Frisians in the northern part of the Netherlands.

He may have been one of the first "interim managers" we come across in our history. A carefully chosen name that belongs to a company with strong roots in the economic sector.

A name which fits in with the core of "our" existence; trading and doing business.

At Mutus Adetus we respect the background and philosophy of our customers while we simultaneously want to build a bridge to future opportunities and possibilities which the current market offers our clients.
